YEARLY CONTRACTS

Now Demanded by the Cumberland Telephone Company.

Another Turn to the Thumb Screw Put On People of Hopkinsville.

The Cumberland Telephone Company, secure in the protection from competition it enjoys, has applied another onerous rule in its dealings with the people of Hopkinsville.

Several business men have been refused telephone service except on annual contracts and it is rumored that a general order will go out requiring all subscribers to be forced into annual contracts to guard against any future competition.

Mr. W. C. Doherty, representative of Simonsen Hardware Company, who boarded at Mrs. T. R. Hancock's, had a phone in his boarding house. He left the city some time ago and recently Mrs. Hancock notified the telephone people that she wanted the phone kept in her residence. She was confronted with an annual contract, which she could not sign, as her rent contract expires in six months. She offered to pay in advance for six months, but the offer was refused. She then offered to pay one month, until Mr.
Doherty could be communicated with in regard to his plans about returning to this territory, but no concessions would be made and the telephone was taken out, with Mrs.
Hancock begging for the privilege of paying it in advance.

Mr. J. O. Cook, the druggist, whose business requires a phone in his residence, this week moved from his father's to a rented house and ordered his phone moved to his new residence. He too met a refusal and his phone would not even be moved without an annual contract dating from the present time.

Supervisor Henry, of the L. & N. railroad, ordered a phone in this residence and was likewise refused, since his business arrangements would not permit him to sign a contract for a year.

Mr. B. J. Mathews reports a similar experience and so it goes.

This is the monopoly that enjoys an exclusive privilege in the city, without even having bought the franchise required of other corporations.

Mr. W. C. Binns, the miller at Pee Dee, has been trying for months to get telephone connection. An offer was made that the line would be put in if he would secure a certain number of subscribers and furnish posts at 80 cents each. He agreed to the conditions. Then the posts were demanded at 40 cents.
He complied again. Then the further demand was made that the posts be chestnut, a wood impossible to procure. He still has no telephone and will, it is said, be forced to connect with the Home system at Lafayette and thence with Clarksville, thus driving his business out of Hopkinsville.

Mr. J. C. Hooe reports that he ordered his phone taken out of his residence because of an insult offered to his wife. Her phone was out of order and when she asked the operator to have the trouble investigated, she was told that if she would clean out her ears she could probably hear better.

In the meantime other systems are anxious to enter Hopkinsville whenever they can buy a franchise.

BREAKING ALL RECORDS.

Cresceus Trots Over a Half Mile
Track in 2,08 1-4.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 8.—Cresceus, the trotting stallion, driven by Geo.
H. Ketcham, his owner, broke all records for a half-mile track this afternoon at the fair grounds, lowering his own best previous time of two weeks ago at Dayton, O., a half second. He covered the mile today in 2,08 1-4. Cresceus was accompanied by two runner and an automobile. The time by quarters was 32, 1,04, 1,36 1-4, 2,08 1-4.

WAR UNAVOIDABLE

Between Turkey and Bulgaria
Over Frontier Troubles.

Admiral Cotton Reports Situation at Beirut Improved, But is Ready to Act.

Vienna, Sept. 9.—A Constantinople despatch to the Die Zeit reports that Turkish troops have been ordered to cross the Bulgarian frontier of Eastern Roumania on the coming of full moon nights in order to surround all the bands in the village of Adrianople.

It is rumored from other sources that the Turkish Minister of War is anxious to begin hostilities against Bulgaria, which he regards as no longer avoidable.

Macedonian Memorandum,

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 9.—The Macedonian organizations are preparing a memorandum to be presented to the representatives of the powers, in which they will declare that the insurgents intend to resort to reprisals for the Turkish atrocities. The memorandum gives detailed information of villages destroyed and the massacre of their inhabitants. It declares that 65, 000 men, women and children have been slaughtered and 120 villages burned.

The memorandum repeats the statement recently issued by the insurgent General Staff at Monastir, that the Turks, instead of fighting the insurgents, have instituted a general massacre of the Christians. The organizations declare they are issuing the present memorandum because they are no longer able to restrain the bands from retaliation and henceforth the rebels will rest with the great powers, which, instead of attempting to moderate the Turkish barbarities, are calling on the Turks speedily to end the revolution.

Cotton Reports All Quiet.

Washington, Sept. 9.—The Navy Department has received a cablegram from Rear Admiral Cotton, dated Beirut yesterday, saying that there were no serious disturbances in Beirut Monday night. The situation there is improving and public feeling is growing quiet.

SALES OF THE WEED

Growing Lighter and But Very Little Doing.

The sales of the weed this week were not as large as those of last week and there will be little doing in tobacco circles from now on until the new crop begins to move. Sale for the year amount to 9,357 hogheads and receipts for the same period, 11,325 hogheads.

TRAIN COLLIDE.

Disastrous Freight Wreck Near Dawson Springs.

A disastrous freight wreck occurred on the L.C. one mile west of Dawson Springs, Saturday. The north bound local and a south bound coal train collided, ditching eight cars and badly damaging both engines.

The engineers and firemen, realizing that a collision was inevitable, jumped and were not seriously hurt. The other trainmen realized that a collision was inevitable, jumped and were not seriously hurt. The other trainmen was at once sent to the scene of the disaster, but the track were not cleared for several hours.

The loss to the railroad company is pretty heavy.

Woman.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Rice of Louisville, Ky., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Goldie Adalyne Rice to Mr. John Street Cranshaw, of Cadiz, Ky., says the Evansville Journal-News.

Miss Rice was born and reared in Evansville, her father having large tobacco interests here. She has many friends here who love and admire her. Mr. Cranshaw is a young banker and endowed with the sterling qualities that go to make an excellent husband and citizen.

The wedding takes place early in November.

PEN FOR RIOTERS.

Twelve of the Fourteen Defendants at Danville Convicted.

Two of the Defendants, Who Turned State's Evidence, Were Permitted to Go Free.

Danville, Ill., Sept. 7.—The main case against the Danville rioters went to the jury at 6 o'clock Saturday evening and a verdict was reached at 11:40. The prisoners were brought into court soon after midnight. Then the verdict was announced.

Twelve of the defendants were convicted. They are: Winfield Baker, William Redwine, Horace Murphy, Isaac Newton Slade, Thomas Bell, John Ison, John Walton, John Robertson, Adam Merry, Clement Mabaker, O. L. Menesces and Bebbie Armstrong, alias Bebbie Dodge. Two were acquitted. They are: John Kress and Richard Roberts, who turned state's evidence.

The punishment is an intermediate sentence in the penitentiary. State's Attorney Kessner probably will not prosecute at present any of the other prisoners on the felony charge, but expects some of them to plead guilty of riot and take a jail sentence. This case is said to be the first one in Illinois where anyone was sent to the penitentiary for endeavoring to break into a jail.

His Life Saved by Chamberlain's Cocaine and Cholera Remedy.

"B. L. Byer, a well known cobbler of this town, says he believes Chamberlain's Cocaine and Cholera Remedy saved his life last summer. He had been sick for a month with what the doctors called dysentery, and could get nothing to do him any good until he tried this remedy. I gave him immediate relief," said B. T. Little, merchant Hancock, Md. "For sale by C. K. Wyly, druggist."

The New Yellow.

A new shade of the season is amazinly yellow, a pretty blend between a light canary and a vivid lemon-color. The fall silks and chiffons come in this exquisite tint, which can be worn by blonde or brunet with equal becomingness.

As a rule, a man will feel well satisfied if he can hobble around on crutches two or three weeks after spraining his ankle, and it is usually two or three months before he has fully recovered. This is an unnecessary loss of time, for in many cases in which Chamberlain's Remedy has been promptly and freely applied, a complete cure has been effected in less than one week's time, and in some cases within three days. For sale by C. K. Wyly, druggist.

A THIRSTY CRUISE.

The Suffering of a Crew Beleagued at the Equator.

It may surprise some readers to learn that in the year 1593 Elizabeth's great admiral, Sir Richard Hawkins, known as "the complete seaman," had a distilling apparatus on board his ship, and found the water so distilled to be "wholesome and nourishing." Sailors in the middle of the nineteenth century seldom had such a standby, and often suffered through the lack of it. A former midshipman in the British navy recalls, in an article in Macmillan's Magazine, the suffering endured during a cruise on board H. M. S. Xenophont, in the South seas, 1860.

For 16 days, he says, we remained beneath within sight of land, drifting to and fro, crossing and recrossing the equator with weary iteration. The sun stared vertically at us from a steel-blue sky, and even under the double awnings the pitch ran liquid from the seams, so that it clogged our feet as we walked the deck.

In the midst of these surroundings the arduous was given to reduce the allowance of drinking water to one pint per day for each officer and man. This allowance was served out in one issue at noon, during the men's dinner hour. The meal consisted of salt junk, which had been hung in brine and was so hard that it would take a handsome polish in skillful hands, or of pork that shriveled in the boiling to little more than hard rind. Of course, the result of such a diet of water and salt when dinner was over, not a drop of water remained to the poor fellows for the next 24 hours of burning heat. The few who tried to save some found it impossible, for they had no place in which to secrete it from their insatiable shipmates.

In this strait the men fell back on vinegar, of which each received a liberal allowance, but in their raging thirst they were not satisfied merely to moisten their mouths with the strong acid; they mixed it with salt water and drank it in large quantities, and the terrible effect may be imagined. The men were fairly swelled over by this horrid mixture, and rolled in agonies in the forecastle.

At last, on May 29, we sighted the anchorage of San Blas, and the order was immediately given to serve out a gallon of water to each man. Discipline was forgotten in the wildness, most joyful confusion as it was, indeed, to drink salt water and deposit a heavy sediment it allowed to stand. I was toed and worn out from morning till night. The kidney secretion was very large, and the heat and scalding and deposited a heavy sediment it allowed to stand. I had no energy left and felt generally run down. I was feeling worse than usual when my attention was attracted to an advertisement in the paper for Kidney Pills. I got a box at Thomas & Treharne's drug store and began using them. In a few days I noticed that the secretions had assumed a natural appearance and the pain and aching had greatly decreased. After a week or two, I had a wonderful change in my condition. I am glad to state that I am practically cured, and Dean's Kidney Pills will be my friend for life.

L. & N.'S MOVE

To Extend Another Line to the Ohio.

The Big System Will Build Through West Kentucky From Madisonville to Shawnee.

tow, Ill.

A special from Madisonville says: Information has been given out here on good authority which states that the Louisville and Nashville Railroad company will build a new railroad from Providence, Ky., to Shawneetown, Ill., which report is also backed by the fact that the company already has a corps of engineers making a survey of the route.

It is said that this move on the part of the Louisville & Nashville is due to the fact that the Illinois Central is getting a strong hold in the territory which this road will pass, and it is some of the richest section of the state, being rich for both agricultural purposes and mining.

The new road is to connect with the company's branch road running from the main line in this city to Providence, which will give them a direct route from here to Shawneetown, Ill.

This move will make great competition in the newly discovered coal fields of this section, and will mean much for Western Kentucky.

IN HOPKINSVILLE.

Every Claim Is Backed By Local Testimony.

If the reader wants stronger proof of the truth of statement and especially of a report of Hopkinsville, what can it be?

James A. Twyman, brick mason, of 1230 South Virginia street, says: "Disorders of the kidneys brought on in my case a sharp and sudden aches in the kidneys and aches enough back that I could not rest comfortably at night and arose in the morning lame and sore. I was toed and worn out from morning till night. The kidney secretion was very large, and the heat and scalding and deposited a heavy sediment it allowed to stand. I had no energy left and felt generally run down. I was feeling worse than usual when my attention was attracted to an advertisement in the paper for Kidney Pills. I got a box at Thomas & Treharne's drug store and began using them. In a few days I noticed that the secretions had assumed a natural appearance and the pain and aching had greatly decreased. A GREAT INVENTION.

Engineer Has Solved the Problem of Sounding the Whistle With His Hand on the Throttle.

Engineer Harry Lammers, who runs the day trains, has about completed a couple of inventions which will work wonders in the railway world and put many thousands of dollars in his pockets. Those familiar with a railroad engine know it requires the use of the driver's right hand and arm to operate the whistle. As he needs the hands for several other purposes, this often proves troublesome, so Lammers put his brain to work to remedy the trouble. The device consists of a set of rods which run from the whistle valve down through the cab to the engineer's foot seat. Here is made a neat device which, by pressing either foot, the whistle valve is opened thereby, doing away with the hand arrangement and leaving that free to use on his air throttle, or for any other purpose.

But his best scheme is this: Railroad men know how stock, and people too, remain on the track until the engine is almost on them. Mr. Lammers has invented a plan which will work wonders in this line. A pipe running from the boiler to the front of the engine is so arranged that by opening a valve a stream of steam is thrown 50 feet straight in front of the locomotive. Should a man or stock stand on the track, this valve can be quickly opened and the hot steam thrown in such a great volume that he will move off and move quickly, too. This arrangement will have many lives; and work wonders on the old bony horses and cattle which are placed on the right of way to be killed, the owner securing the much cash salary and expenses, paid for opportunity of suing the company, a "pastime" so much indulged in by some people who seem advanced: position permanent. Ad to think railroad companies owe dress Manager, 610 Monon Bldg., their living. —Lancaster Record, Chicago, Ill.

CADETS MAY SMOKE.

First Time in 22 Years That Smoking Is Allowed at West Point.

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 7—West Point Cadets are now permitted to smoke, and for the first time in twenty-two years there will be smoking in the barracks on Sunday. There is high glee among the cadets, who have been compelled to do their smoking on the sly, with the constant fear of detection and punishment if caught. On Friday's parade an order was published announcing that cadets are "permitted tobacco during recreation periods within the barracks limits." It was also announced that cadets would be permitted to buy tobacco and pipes from the post store. The order came as a complete surprise to the academy, except Colonel Mills, the commandant. It was the result of a recommendation made by Colonel Mills to the Secretary of War a month or more ago. It went into effect on Saturday morning, and the effect of the order will be to discourage cigarettes.

What About Taylor.

Governor Durbin of Indiana has written an article to the independent, referring directly to the riots that have recently occurred in the Hoosier state. In this article Governor Durbin says: "Either the supremacy of the law must be established beyond question or freedom must be established beyond question or freedom must be given to the fury of riotous assemblages engage in trampling all law into the dust. Anarchy and constitutional government may co-exist within the same geographic limits."

It would be well if the governor of Indiana could employ some of his influence in considering the case of ex-Governor Taylor, who is a fugitive from Kentucky justice and who now finds a refuge in the state of Indiana by the grace of Governor Durbin.

If the Indiana governor really believes "the supremacy of the law must be established beyond question," he is destined to continually govern himself antagonistic to anarchy, with no reason to do so, because he has a duty to prevent the return to Kentucky of Taylor, a fugitive from justice, and to do so for his own safety. He is not required to remain in the assassin'sation of Governor Goebel.

The governor of Indiana will find it just a bit embarrassing to write up the "supremacy of the law" so long as he permits an extorting protection to Mr. Taylor. —Commoner.

Story of an Egg,

If a fertile egg has been incubating for even twenty-four hours, a small speck is visible, but it is not discernible in thick or dark-shelled eggs; but if the egg were broken open, it would be perceived that the vesicle had enlarged, and radiating from it would be a number of minute blood vessels.

On the third day these blood vessels will have completely surrounded the yolk, and the small dark spot in the center will be developed into the eye or brain. The brain is the first part to take definite form.

On or about the fourth day a respiratory membrane is formed, and the egg gradually increased in opacity until after the seventh day it is not practicable to form any judgment of the progress of the chick by means of light.

By the tenth day the bones of the skeleton have begun to assume consistency, the internal organs have a decided shape and the heart is formed, and all vital parts are complete. On certain parts feathers are growing and all development from hence is rapidly carried on.

On the twelfth day heat is given out, and this is easily demonstrated to those who use incubators, as less heat is required to keep up the temperature, and it is generally necessary to move back the weight.

The chick reaches its perfect form on the fifteenth day, and from thence grows in size until, on the nineteenth day, respiration through the lungs takes place.

Up to within a few hours of the exit of the chick from the shell, the egg bag lies outside the bird. Immediately before hatching it is absorbed into the intestines, and forms sufficient sustenance for the chick for twenty-four hours. Therefore, people should avoid attempting to cram the little birds until this time is passed, when, if they are healthy, they will help themselves readily enough.

If all goes well, the eggs will begin to chip not later than the twentieth day, and the chick leaves the shell unsisted in from twelve to eighteen hours after the first appearance of the bill.—Massachusetts Ploughman.

Eggs Not Laid by Hens.

Science, prompted and urged by the commercial instinct, has demonstrated that cassein, from ordinary cows' milk, is quite as good for baking as the finest hen eggs, and a company with $6,000,000 capital has been formed to manufacture out of "it" a substitute for the "fresh" and "wholly fresh" products of the poultry trade. One pound of cassein is equal to sixteen eggs.

August Belmont is a large stockholder in this corporation, which already, though only an infant, puts out about 1,200 pounds a day, the equivalent of 89,400 eggs. The hen's only remaining advantage lies in the unbatchedness of the rival product and its incasement in a box instead of a shell. She alone can be the mother of broods and flocks of chickens. Cassein can not deprive her of that cherished privilege. The artificial egg has arrived, but not the artificial broiler, fowl, capon, roaster, etc. —New York Press.

Indiana Poetry.

The "limit" of poor verse has been reached by a Hoosier who feebly writes:

"...the benighted Hindoo,
He does the best he kin do;
He sticks to his caste from first to last,
And for pants he makes the skin
do."

Too many people make the skin do the work that the bowels and kidneys should do. A bilious, constituting disease, more or less skin, lusterless eyes, foul breath, and a general woe outreaching all this can be remedied by the use of Dr. Caldwell's (Laxative) Syrup Peppermint, which is sold by all druggists and dealers in medicine.

TRAPPED ON A LEDGE.

Explorer in the Canyon of the Colorado in a Tight Place.

A member of a party sent out by the Smithsonian institution in the early eighties to explore the canyon of the Colorado, recalls an experience the memory of which, he assures his friends, still makes his hair tingle at the roots. This is his story, according to the Youth's Companion.

I had left the party for an all-day exploration on my own account, and at four o'clock in the afternoon I was working gingerly along a ledge which projected from the wall of the canyon. It was a dizzy spot, with the rocky walls running straight down to the river bed.

I came at last to a break in the ledge—a sort of vertical split in the wall of the canyon. It was about five feet across, and a tree grew on the other side, rooted hard and fast in the crannies. "Lucky thing," said I to myself, "that the tree is here," and grasping a branch that stuck out in my direction, I swung myself to the ledge on the other side of the gap.

Well, I started along all right, but inside of two minutes I came to the end of the ledge. There was nothing to do but go back, and back I went. When I got to the gap once more, I felt just the way an animal must feel when it is caught in a box-trap.

The tree by which I had swung myself across was now on my side of the ledge, and furnished me no more help in getting back than if it hadn't been there.

I knew that no human help would ever reach me, so I just had to cling to the rough wall and try to make up my mind to jump across from one narrow ledge to the other, right across an open space with a drop of 400 feet at nothing but rocks below me.

A hundred times I had my mind all made up, but every time I looked down into the canyon my courage failed.

It was nearly dark before I jumped. I can remember even now how my nails scraped across the rocks when I attempted to retain a foothold on the other side. My feet were all alive with tingling nerves as they slipped over the gravel on the ledge, but when I found that I was standing safely on the other side, I felt warm all over at first, and then, although it was a hot day, I had a chill, and shook as if I had theague.

MEDITATION ON GOLF.

Golf Has Taken a Deep Hold on Players for Pleasure.

A general survey of the game of golf during the past years seems to establish a fact very comforting to those who followed it and tasted of its pleasures before its great burst into popularity in the early nineties. Not only has it succeeded in keeping clear of the debasing element of gate money, to which cricket and football are being surrendered even more and more, but it has taken a deeper hold of the ordinary player who follows it for physical benefit and recreation. At first the character of the game seemed likely to be seriously altered for the worse in England under the accumulation of medal competitions, beggar competitions, driving contests, club matches, county cups and all the dream prize-rewarded struggles of modern athletics. But as time went on and the charm of golf without the extrinsic excitement of pots and cups had time to work in men's minds, so organized competitions attracted ever less attention, until to-day we find the proposed county team contests hanging fire, and even club matches languishing.

The truest delights of golf are known only to the busy man, says Blackwood's Magazine.

When the fading of youth has shut out cricket, football and even lawn tennis—the fair weather game—forever from his possibilities, he begins to recognize the profound virtue of golf. That there is a more youthful, more forceful, more skillful golf than his, he is well aware. But he need not bother his head about it. Sufficient unto him the struggle with a friend, the exercise in the open air and the constant and keen play of human nature under success or distresses intense enough while the game lasts, but subjects of banter and amusement when it is done. How rarely to be seen now is any specimen of those first victims of a mistaken zeal for the game who carefully recorded their scores in match play. The book and pencil are now regarded as the signs of the beginner, the duffer or the man who ought not to play golf.

MICAELA DE LOS ANGELES.

Story of Spanish Girl Who Lived in Mexican Convent.

The story of this young Spanish girl in Mexico, who lived a mysterious life in a convent, may be truly called legendary history, says Modern Mexico. Micaela de Los Angeles was believed to be a daughter of Philip II, of Spain, who was brought to Mexico and inured in the royal convent of Jesus Maria for reasons best known to the royal father. This convent was founded in 1578 by two Spaniards, Pedro T. Denia and Gregorio de Puebla, purposefully for the descendants of the conquerors. It was placed under the rule of Franciscan nuns, and jealously guarded. None but daughters of aristocratic and noble and royal houses were admitted. Just when the Nina Micaela entered the convent no one seemed to remember, her presence at first being scarcely noticed by any, but the mother superior. She was plainly dressed and kept in great seclusion for a time, but by and by it was observed that she was gradually being surrounded with royal luxuries. This fact naturally incited inquiry, and with curiosity on one hand and knowledge, even in the minds of a few, on the other, it was soon known that Micaela was a direct descendant of the king and that her brother, Archbishop Pedro de Contreras, had special care over her. For a long time it was thought that Micaela had been brought to the convent while a very small child, but her increasing unhappiness and longing for scenes of which the nuns knew nothing convinced them that she had been rudely torn away from all that her affection held dear, or that she had been falsely led to her imprisonment in a foreign land. The walls of the old convent of Mexico were very high and thick, and a nun once behind them, and protected also by the solemn oaths that she and all about her must take, was a nun for life—and yet there were eyes that saw and tongues that told tales. It was always so. Even Alvarado and Heloise heard from each other at times.

Whether Micaela's lover was a priest or not neither records nor traditions tell us, only that she had one. Perhaps he followed her over seas. Perhaps it was to part her from him that she was sent to Mexico to the royal convent. Perhaps the parting had the usual result, of strengthening the ties of love and making the lover more determined. Who knew? Also, no one in Mexico, but that does not matter. Micaela was unhappy, and she had a lover who would have taken her from the convent if he could. That is enough to stir the heart.

One night the convent was attacked, whether by Indians or soldiers or others it could not be discovered in the darkness, for Mexico had no street lights in those early days. But by whomsoever, the attack was repulsed, the doors doubly barred and guarded, and on one entered and none escaped.

After that those who passed by the royal convent frequently heard sad moanings and demoniacal laughter, and loud calls, repeated and repeated, until the voice seemed to die away in the distance, or to be shut off by many walls and closing doors—at times even by the sudden placing of a strong hand over the mouth of the maniac. When the man ran of the royal convent died it was known that Micaela de los Angeles, the daughter of Philip II, of Spain, wife and many secretly proved that she had joined her lover in Heaven.

A Fainting Room.

One of the latest ideas in New York is a room in which ladies can rest if they feel faint and go off in a swoon, amid the most artistic and beautiful surroundings. Several restaurants and teahouses have adopted this idea, and members of the fair sex whose nerve force is run down can find in the fainting room a soothng resting place. The room is partially darkened and the prevailing color green, whilst it is liberally decorated with various sweet-smelling flowers. Comfortable sofas and chairs are provided for the "fainters," and a lady doctor is kept on the premises should her services be required.

Singular Coincidence.

A remarkable coincidence occurred at an inquest on the body of a woman at the London hospital recently. Three of the jurymen were named Bird; the foreman selected was Mr. Peacecock; a fifth was called Caige; and another was Mr. Prech.

Year's Work With 100 Hens

Having been very much interested in the reports of amateur poultrymen that have appeared from time to time in Farm Poultry, I thought possibly a few figures from my little flock would not come amiss in demonstrating to the skeptical that there is money in poultry.

Six years ago I started in with poultry on a small scale, beginning with ten hens and a cockerel, B. P. Rocks, increasing as funds and experience would permit, and have been able each year to show a handsome profit on the right side of the account.

For the past year, which ended May 1st, I will give you a few figures from strict account which has been kept of a flock of 100 hens, Barred P. Rocks and R. I. Reds. I raised 500 chickens, sold part of them at broiler age, and the rest when five or six months old, keeping 30 or 40 pullets in making up stock for my own use. From the 100 hens I received 659 10-12 doz eggs, which I sold at the average price of 35½ cents, making the amount

Received for eggs $239.07
Received for dressed and live poultry, 228.90

$467.97
The amount being about equally divided.

Deducting the amt. paid for feed for the year, $180.26

Leaves net, $287.71
Crediting each hen her share, would make $2.87½¢.

Considering that this amount of business was carried on on a small back yard lot of not more than one-half to three-quarters of an acre, I think it shows that with larger acreage one might be able to do nearly as well. The dressed poultry and eggs were sold direct to consumers, thereby enabling me to realize better profits than to sell to commission men; and this is one way to make poultry pay. I used two 120-egg Cyphers incubators for hatching the chickens, and brood them in Champion brooders, which early in the season are indoors, and later are moved into the lot.—W. S. Ide, in Farm Poultry.

Stomach Trouble.

I have been troubled with my stomach for the past four years," says D. L. Heath, of Clover Nook Farm, Greenfield, Mass. War Inevitable.

War between Turkey and Bulgaria is regarded at Constantinople as inevitable.

Mr. D. P. Daugherty, well known throughout Mercer and Sumner counties, W. Va., most likely owes his life to the kindness of a neighbor. He was almost hopelessly afflicted with diarrhoea: was attended by two physicians who gave him various remedies. His neighbor, learning of his serious condition, brought him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured him in less than twenty-four hours. For sale by C. W. Wyly.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local application of their cures for such diseases as rheumatism or the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have difficulty in hearing. It impedes hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal hearing will be destroyed forever unless cases out of ten are cured at birth, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) which cannot be cured by Hall's Earthen Cure. Send your circulars.

Twelve white persons, one of whom was a woman, who participated in the mob at Danville, Ill., last spring, have been convicted of rioting and sent to the Joliet penitentiary on the evidence of two men who turned State's evidence to save themselves. That this sort of prosecution will not stop mob law is shown by the fact that the very day the Danville men were taken to the penitentiary a negro murderer was saved from a mob in Chicago only by the most vigorous efforts of the police. A few more such verdicts and a general race war will be among the possibilities.

Some of the Democratic papers are complaining bitterly because the Republicans met recently at Lexington and arranged for a bigger campaign fund than we have. Damage Suits.

It would seem from the verdicts rendered by the juries of the court which adjourned last week that the people at large are becoming a little more liberal in their dealings with corporations. The two weeks' special term of court was for the purpose of trying damage cases that were pending against individuals and corporations. In the past it had seemed that about all that was necessary to obtain a judgment against a corporation, was to bring suit, name the amount of damages wanted and juries were ready to render a verdict accordingly. The jury of the special term of court was conservative and gave verdicts for the plaintiffs only when damages were justified.

There were four suits against the Reinecke Mining Co., aggregating $7,998 and verdicts for only $400 given. Two damage cases tried against the L. & N. railroad for $16,000 resulted in verdicts of $515. Three cases against the I. C. railroad for $6,000 resulted in verdicts of $1,000 damage. There were four individual suits against individuals in which the sum of $10,170.40 was demanded. Judgment was rendered for the sum of $235. There were five cases against the city of Madisonville amounting to $8,900, while the claimants got judgment for only $505. We hope the time has passed in the history of our country when judgments are to be rendered against towns and other corporations for every little frivolous excuse. Madisonville has suffered and very unjustly in the past on account of heavy damages being awarded where none should have been given.

We feel that the time has come when there should be a campaign of education against the rule that has applied in the past of giving unjust verdicts to plaintiffs, simply for the reason that the defendants are rich, or are corporations. We know very well that in taking the position that we now take and have taken, that we lay ourselves open to criticism by those who regard it as popular to denounce corporations. We are not a corporation, and we say as we have said in the past, that no corporation has ever yet dictated a single line of our writing, nor have we ever received a cent from any of these concerns for what we have said, nor do we ever expect to receive anything of value, perhaps not even their thanks, for what we may say or do. We write from what we believe to be proper standpoint and ask that every one who goes into court, whether it be white or black, corporation or individual, shall have the same equal justice meted out to him or them with favors shown to any one. We aver here that all suits brought against corporations are not without merit. Many of them are meritorious and heavy damages should be awarded. Where damages are just and due, whether from individuals, towns, or corporations, then let the damages be such as will at least be adequate to the injury done. Justice wrongs no one—Madisonville Graphic.

LIVE STOCK INTERESTS

Will He Well Taken Care of at the St. Louis Exposition.

Chef F. D. Coburn, of the live stock department of the World's Fair, has been invited by Chairman L. L. Dorsey, of the Live Stock committee of the Kentucky Exhibit Association, to appear before his committee and other noted stockmen of the State at the State Fair in Owensboro the week of Sept. 21-26, in the interest of Kentucky's display of live stock at the exposition.

Mr. Coburn has promised to be present if possible. He says the State Fair will provide an exceptional occasion for increasing the interest of the breeders of Kentucky at the World's Fair.

Kentucky's breeders of live stock have already placed application for over 300 stalls at the World's Fair for use during the big live stock shows. Horses, mules and jacks will be shown the last week of August and the first of September; cattle from Sept. 1 to September 28; hogs and sheep from Oct. 3 to Oct. 17; poultry and dogs the last week in October and the first week in December.

Superintendent E. V. Vaughn, of Webster county schools, has applied for space for an educational exhibit at the World's Fair from his county.

Prof. McHenry Rhoads, superintendent of the Owensboro city schools, writes to the Kentucky exhibit association, that it is his purpose to get up a complete display covering entire field of education at work in Daviess' capital for the Kentucky exhibit at the exposition.

The Henderson schools will probably have a fine exhibit in the Kentucky educational display at the World's Fair.

Superintendent E. V. Vaughn, of Webster county schools, has applied for space for an educational exhibit at the World's Fair from his county.

Some prize-winning views are to be furnished the Kentucky Exhibit Association by J. Louis Kowsey, of Vancburg. He has a freak picture made at a fishing camp which has attracted much notice and is to be included in the list.

The Kentucky Exhibit Association is collecting hundreds of photographs for display in the Kentucky Building and in the exhibits of the State's products and resources at the World's Fair. It is working on the idea that nothing is more attractive than good pictures and that Kentucky is able to furnish some of the best. Photographers all over the State are becoming interested in this feature of the Association's work.

The first educational exhibit to reach the Kentucky Exhibit Association for its display at the St. Louis exposition next year came from Breathitt county. It was collected by Prof. Forest T. Moss and sent in from Jackson.

The Louisville schools are to try themselves on their educational exhibit at the World's Fair. Every phase of school life is to be shown—high school, manual training, kindergarten, night school, blind institute work, etc., etc.

A Portland, Ore., concern is making preparations to open a big coal mine at Earles, Ky., four miles of the I. C. Central Railroad. This concern has purchased large tracts of land in that section, and expect to spend much money in developing same.

A Letcher county farmer was attacked by three brothers, but succeeded in holding them at bay. A number of shots were fired, but no one was hurt.

HIGH SCORES

Made By the Participants In the Shooting Tournament.

Charlie Prowse and Dr. R. L. Woodward Make Highest Team Score.

A shooting tournament under the auspices of the Hopkinsville Gun Club was held in this city Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

About 40 contestants took part and 25 shot throughout the tournament.

The professionals present were Rolla "Pop" Heikes, Dayton, O.; C. W. Phillips, Mechanicburg, O.; Chas. Spencer, champion of the world, St. Louis, Mo.; Hood Waters, Baltimore, Maryland; and Col. Anthony.

C. O. Campre, of Eminence, Ky., ex-champion amateur of Kentucky, won the silver trophy, open to all. Also a gold medal emblematic of "Blue Rock" target, open to amateurs only, with the remarkable score of 340, out of a possible 350.

Chas. Spencer did some of the greatest work on the last day ever seen in this part of the State, by breaking 195 targets without a miss.

C. O. Prowse, of this city, won the championship of the local club with a score of 324 out of a possible 350.

Mrs. W. A. Davis, of Paducah, showed to Hopkinsville people that a lady can handle a gun as well as the sterner sex, by breaking 38 out of 50 in the ladies' contest. There was no other contestant. She won a gold stick pin.

Out of a possible 350, the following scores were made:

LeCompte, 340; Phillips, 328; Spencer, 328; Starr, 324; Heikes, 324; Prowse, 324; B. G., 322; Waters, 319; Woodward, 316; Herr, 315; Anthony, 312; Hillman, 310; Mercer, 308; Beckwith, 308; Pragoff, 307; Davis, 304; Kennedy, 302; Powell, 297; Ransie, 298; Moss, 293; Lewis, 270; Gant, 263; Griffith, 251; Starling, 249; Hille, 248.

LeCompte won first prize; Phillips, Spencer and Starr tied for second, and Heikes and Prowse tied for third.

The team races of 2 men resulted as follows:

Spencer { 25 25
Keikes { 23 47 21 46

LeCompte { 24 24
Herr { 23 47 24 48

The tie on first contest was decided by the second.

ANATEUR TEAMS OF KENTUCKY.

HOPKINSVILLE—Prowse, 25; Woodward, 24 49

Owensboro—Lewis, 21; Herr, 21 42

Louisville—LeCompte, 24; Pragoff, 23 47

Paducah—Star, 24; Rouse, 22 46

Henderson—Hillman, 22; Powell, 22 44

Russellville—Kennedy, 18; Morton, 23 41

Prowse and Woodward achieved a great triumph in making the best score of all. Their score of 49 beat the 48 of the professionals.

Both days the shooting was done in a strong wind and under great disadvantages.

The tournament was a big event for the sportsmen and it aroused great interest.

The visitors all returned to their homes yesterday.

Mexican Mustang Liniment
for horse ailments, for cattle ailments, for sheep ailments.

The most sensible thing to do when suffering from Bruises or Cuts is to treat the wound with

Mexican Mustang Liniment,

because it is noted for its ability to drive out soreness and inflammation, after which it heals the damaged flesh in a remarkably short space of time.

For open wounds soak a cloth with the liniment and bind on the limb so you would a poultice. For older cuts apply freely and rub it well in.

FOR MAN, BEAST,
OR POULTRY.

Mexican Mustang Liniment
is a sure remedy for curing Scaly Legs among poultry.

Eggs at $3.600 a Dozen.

At Raleigh, N. C., three thousand six hundred dollars a dozen for eggs, and odd ones at that, is what the Hon. Henry F. Seawell recovered in his suit against the Seaboard Air Line Railroad Co. The supreme court has handed down a decision affirming the judgment of the lower court which gave Mr. Seawell $4,500 for being bespattered with eggs by a mob of his political opponents in the campaign of 1900, while on the premises of the railroad company.

In 1900, when political strife was intense, Mr. Seawell, a member of the Cartilage bar, was a Populist candidate for attorney general. He had an engagement to speak to the people of Shelby, the county seat of Cleveland.

When he arrived at Shelby he was received upon by a delegation of citizens, his political opponents, who told him that the people of Shelby did not desire to listen to his eloquence. After deliberation, Mr. Seawell decided to take the advice of the delegation and not fill his engagement at that time. In making known the fact that he was not going to speak he uttered some remarks not complimentary to the people of Shelby.

While with a mileage book in his pocket he was awaiting the train at the station, and between the arrival and the departure of the train, a mob composed of his political opponents pelted Mr. Seawell with eggs. The station agent of the railroad company aided and abetted the mob, and fifteen eggs struck Mr. Seawell.

In affirming the judgment against the railroad company in Mr. Seawell's favor, the supreme court held that a common carrier or its agent is not only bound not to assault and maltreat intended passenger, but also he has gone upon the premises of the common carrier, it to protect him from the offer of indignity, assault and battery.

A Remarkable Record.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for over thirty years, during which time millions both here and abroad have used it. It has long been the standard and main reliance in the treatment of croup in thousands of homes, yet during all this time no case ever been reported to the medical profession in which it failed to effect a cure. When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even as soon as the cough begins, it will prevent the attack. It is pleasant to take, many children like it. It contains no opium or other harsh or unwholesome substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by C. K. Wyly, druggist.

Rapid Running.

A passenger train ran from Chicago Junction, Ohio, to Garrett, Ind., a distance of 128 miles, with out a stop, in 125 minutes.

WAGNER AS A HUMORIST.

How He Composed with the suggestion of a London Newspaper.

Richard Wagner was not a man to whom one would naturally ascribe the faculty of ready joking. It is not from the creator of the serious, somber "Flying Dutchman" or the composer of the half mystical, half religious opera "Parsifal," that one would expect cheerful pranks at the expense of the other people. Nevertheless, says Collier's Weekly, an instance is on record of how the great tone-painter of Bayreuth played a very funny trick on a new-paper and probably a good many of the readers accustomed to relying on what it said. It was in the fifties, Wagner, then still climbing the ladder of fame, was conducting the Philharmonic concert in the British metropolis for a season. Being, as he remained to the end, a very ardent admirer of Beethoven, and in fact knowing that master's nine symphonies by heart, he selected several of them for performance in the said series of concerts.

The first time, then, that Wagner conducted Beethoven's symphony in London, the public received the rendition kindly enough, but the next morning a certain newspaper with a very large circulation came out with a rather severe criticism. The author of "Loebengrin" was in cold print, but unwell modulated, every note of the unseen enchanter having sung unconsciously. There seemed to be an air of carelessness and indifference about it. Presently it slipped out again:

"Grashaw ain't got no show. Frenchman kick 'em an' make gumbo-ho, ho."

"This bit of impudent ridicule, which is familiar to almost everyone who has lived in southern Louisiana for any length of time, arrested my attention again, but the humorous side of it went also into insignificance for it was the tune, not the words, that won my attention. I walked out of the woods and made for the place where I supposed the sound originated. I was in an open field, but no sooner had I reached the top of the little hill than I noticed a boy seated near the edge of the water down in the canal. He did not seem, the top of a small tree under which he sat, almost hiding me from him. He was in knelt trousers, wore a wide-brimmed hat, was barefooted, and looked intently at several crawfish traps which he had set. Directly he sang the little song again. He sang with the same melodious strain. After a conversation with him about crawfishes and so forth, I left him wondering whether the melodies of crawfish boys were results of temporary inspiration or of deliberate composition. All their songs live a long time, too. The one in question is said to be over 100 years old. Awhile after I had left the little fellow the melody came to me again.

"Chawashaw ain't got no show. Frenchman kick 'em an' make gumbo-ho, ho, ho."

"I looked back. The boy was going across the field."

PURSUIT OF THE APPENDIX.

Is the Surgical Sport to Be Interfered With?

Dr. John Henry Carsten's argument to the state medical society against the indiscriminate removal of the veriform appendix appears to be irregular and unethical, according to the Detroit Free Press. We have always been taught to believe that veriform appendices were what the lawyers call fere naturae—wild things in which nobody can claim property, and which anybody is free to take.

At this late day we cannot accept Dr. Carsten's theory that a healthy appendix ought not to be removed.

An appendix is an appendix whether healthy or not, and modern surgery has definitely ascertained that the function of the appendix is to be an auxiliary.

That is its place in the economy of man, and for centuries nature has directed her efforts, in the process of evolution, to the insufficient work of producing a veriform appendix that could be easily separated from the patient together with $250.

If Carsten would content himself with an imitation of the fish and game laws, and advocate a closed season for the appendix, the suggestion might be worthy of serious consideration. Perhaps it might be better for everybody if no appendices were taken, say between the 1st of July and the 1st of October, and none less than our years old and not more than 25 by any one surgeon in a session unless the taking of the appendix were absolutely necessary to feeding the doctor's family. This would be a reasonable regulation, and it would tend to eliminate the mere pot hunter, who slashes recklessly, and has a tendency to remove more appendices than his bank account really requires.

However, the details of the closed season can be worked out later. We have no desire to usurp any of the medical society's functions; but it is none too soon to protest against the pernicious doctrine that a man has a right to keep his veriform appendix merely because it is healthy, or that he has any property rights whatever in his appendix. The time has not yet come to beat the scoldings into plowshares and the forces into pruning hooks.

THE CRAWFISHER'S SONG.

Sit, Sweet, Rhymical Bit of Melody

Heard in Louisiana.

"Did you ever hear a crawfisher's song?" asked a man with an ear full of noise, of a writer for the New Orleans Times-Democrat. "Well, I have, and during a stroll over a narrow strip of wooded land which separates two plantations out in one of the Louisiana parishes a most peculiar melody floated to my ears, and though it was short, it caught my attention immediately. It was sweet, soft, rhythmic. It had an exceedingly melodious strain, was sung by a wonderfully melodic voice, and seemed to be arranged according to the laws of tone. I was amazed by the sweetness of it—hypnotized and held. It seemed to have rippled from some spot not far away, and was just gurgling from the lips of the earth. I peeped through the weeds and trees about me, but saw no one, yet the sound had seemed to come from an open stretch on one side of the thicket. This puzzled me. Who was the vocalist hidden? And had he sung to embarrass me? If so, why didn't he sing again? The vines were well modulated, every note of the unseen enchanter having sung unconsciously. There seemed to be an air of carelessness and indifference about it, which won my attention. I walked out of the woods and made for the place where I supposed the sound originated. I was in an open field, but no sooner had I reached the top of the little hill than I noticed a boy seated near the edge of the water down in the canal. He did not seem, the top of a small tree under which he sat, almost hiding me from him. He was in knelt trousers, wore a wide-brimmed hat, was barefooted, and looked intently at several crawfish traps which he had set. Directly he sang the little song again. He sang with the same melodious strain. After a conversation with him about crawfishes and so forth, I left him wondering whether the melodies of crawfish boys were results of temporary inspiration or of deliberate composition. All their songs live a long time, too. The one in question is said to be over 100 years old. Awhile after I had left the little fellow the melody came to me again.

"Chawashaw ain't got no show. Frenchman kick 'em an' make gumbo-ho, ho, ho."

"I looked back. The boy was going across the field."

THE DEMOCRATIC AUTO.

Washerwoman Came to Her Work in a Horseless Carriage.

"I had a very interesting experience as the result of placing an advertisement in the paper," said a woman who lives in the northern part of the city, according to the Detroit Free Press. "I wanted a washerwoman, but I was not prepared to get the kind that it was my fortune to engage.

Live With Your Work.

We all know men and women who are engaged in some business with which they are dissatisfied. They are there simply the victims of circumstances. They are the people who have "missed their calling," and are consequently plodding through life—a failure.

Sometimes men and women try to raise poultry, even going to the length of expending great sums of money in buying stock and appliances, who really have no love for the work, being carried into it by a fit of momentary enthusiasm. The result is the same—failure.

One of the most noted lawyers of New York, a millionaire many times over, begins his work before most of us breakfast, and continues it far into the night. His work is to him as his very life. Thomas Edison almost lives in his laboratory. The men who are known as the leaders in the financial world, the heads of the great manufacturing concerns, our eminent editors, lawyers, preachers, writers and thinkers, practically work all the time, and their brains are continually reaching out for a new idea. These are the men who work with their work for the work's sake. Their work is part and parcel of themselves. And these are the men who are moving the world today.

The men and women who are making the greatest success of poultry business are they who might be said practically live in their poultry yards. They are in the poultry business because they are made that way. It is not a question with them how little they can do and yet make a success, but simply how they can best do the work in hand. By working hand in hand with nature, shirking nothing, overlooking nothing, they are rewarded with the fruits of their efforts.

Of the men and women of our acquaintance who have made a success raising poultry not a single one is there among them but who has earned it by hard and faithful work among his fowls.

They are continually on the lookout for a new idea in mating, breeding, or feeding. They are those who prepare for storms when others think not of them.

Late at night they may be seen gliding out among their coops when the frightened cry of the chicks warn their ears of the presence of some midnight marauder. In the middle of the most severe storms they will be found making more secure some mother and her brood, or taking a precautionary peep at a household of young frys. In season and out of season they are always on the move. And these are the people who are making money raising poultry.—Poultry Gazette.

BASE BALL.

Hopkinsville Won First and Lost Second Game.

Paducah Boys Here For Series and Jackson Will be Here Next.

The Paducah team is here for a series of three games of ball with the local team. The first game was scheduled for yesterday and they will play the second game this afternoon and the third to-morrow. Jackson will be here Monday for three games with Hopkinsville.

Cairo will not play here again this season. The Egyptians were scheduled to play here three days of next week, beginning Monday, but these games were cancelled, owing to the fact that Kirby season closes on Sept. 16, instead of the 29th, as planned when the schedule was prepared. This leaves only five more games at Athletic park, two with Paducah and three with Jackson. Hopkinsville won the first game here with Clarksville played Monday, and lost the second Tuesday. The second game of Tuesday's double-header was an exhibition bout, and the villagers won, the score being 12 to 6. Only seven innings were played. The first game of that day resulted in the score of 4 to 2. It proved a most interesting contest, the clubs tying up to the eighth inning. Edwards pitched a good game, but he was not at his best and eleven hits were made off him, two of them being home runs. Law, a pitcher from the University of Mississippi, did the twirling for the villagers and held Hopkinsville down to seven hits, four of which were made by Chatham. The longest drive ever seen on the home diamond was made by Eagle, of the Clarksville team, who put the ball over center field and over the fence. Anderson, of the visitors, also made a home run, putting the ball over the right field fence.

The score in Monday's game was: Hopkinsville, 14; Clarksville, 9. Bomar pitched for the locals and Deaver for Clarksville. Hopkinsville made twenty hits off this celebrated Southerner league twirler, five of them proving three baggers and one a home run, besides numerous two-baggers and singles. Bomar pitched an excellent game throughout. In this game Street and Collins made two-base hits, Mullen made two three-base hits, and Hooper, Bomar and Farris also made a two-base hit each.

Bomar struck out seven men and Deaver 4.

Large crowds attended the games both Monday and Tuesday, the crowd on Tuesday being the largest of the season.

The Renewal a Strain.

Vacation is over. Again he school bell rings at morning and at noon, again with tens of thousands the hardest kind of work has begun, the renewal of which is a mental strain to all except the most rugged. The little girl that a few days ago had bad roses in her cheeks, and the little boy whose lips were then so red you would have insisted that they had been "kissed by strawberries," have already lost something of the appearance of health. Now is a time when many children should be given a tonic, which may avert much serious trouble, and we know of no other so highly to be recommended as Hood's Saraparilla, which strengthens the nerves, perfects digestion and assimilation, and aids mental development by building up the whole system.

SAD DEATH

Of Mrs. Wm. V. Neel While Visiting in Henderson.

Mrs. Louise Chester Neel, wife of Dr. Wm. V. Neel, died Monday evening at the home of her mother, Mrs. R. Scroggin Eastin in Henderson. She had been visiting her mother for several weeks. The funeral took place in Henderson Tuesday. Mrs. Neel died in childbirth. Dr. Neel came with his young bride to this city less than two years ago and the doctor began the practice of medicine. The occupied a cottage on Eighteenth street until Mrs. Neel went to Henderson some weeks ago. Dr. Neel was with his wife during her last illness and has not yet returned home. He has many friends here who feel deeply for him in his sorrow.

Mrs. Neel was a young woman of beauty, culture and refinement and was highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends.

Tragedy Averted.

"Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved," writes Mrs. W. Watkins of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound and well."
